

hello over the course of 3 days Lina and I (Ariana)
will teach you about 6 IMPORTANT people

HELLO

FIRST GRADE

By: Ariana Lee and Lina
Nguyen

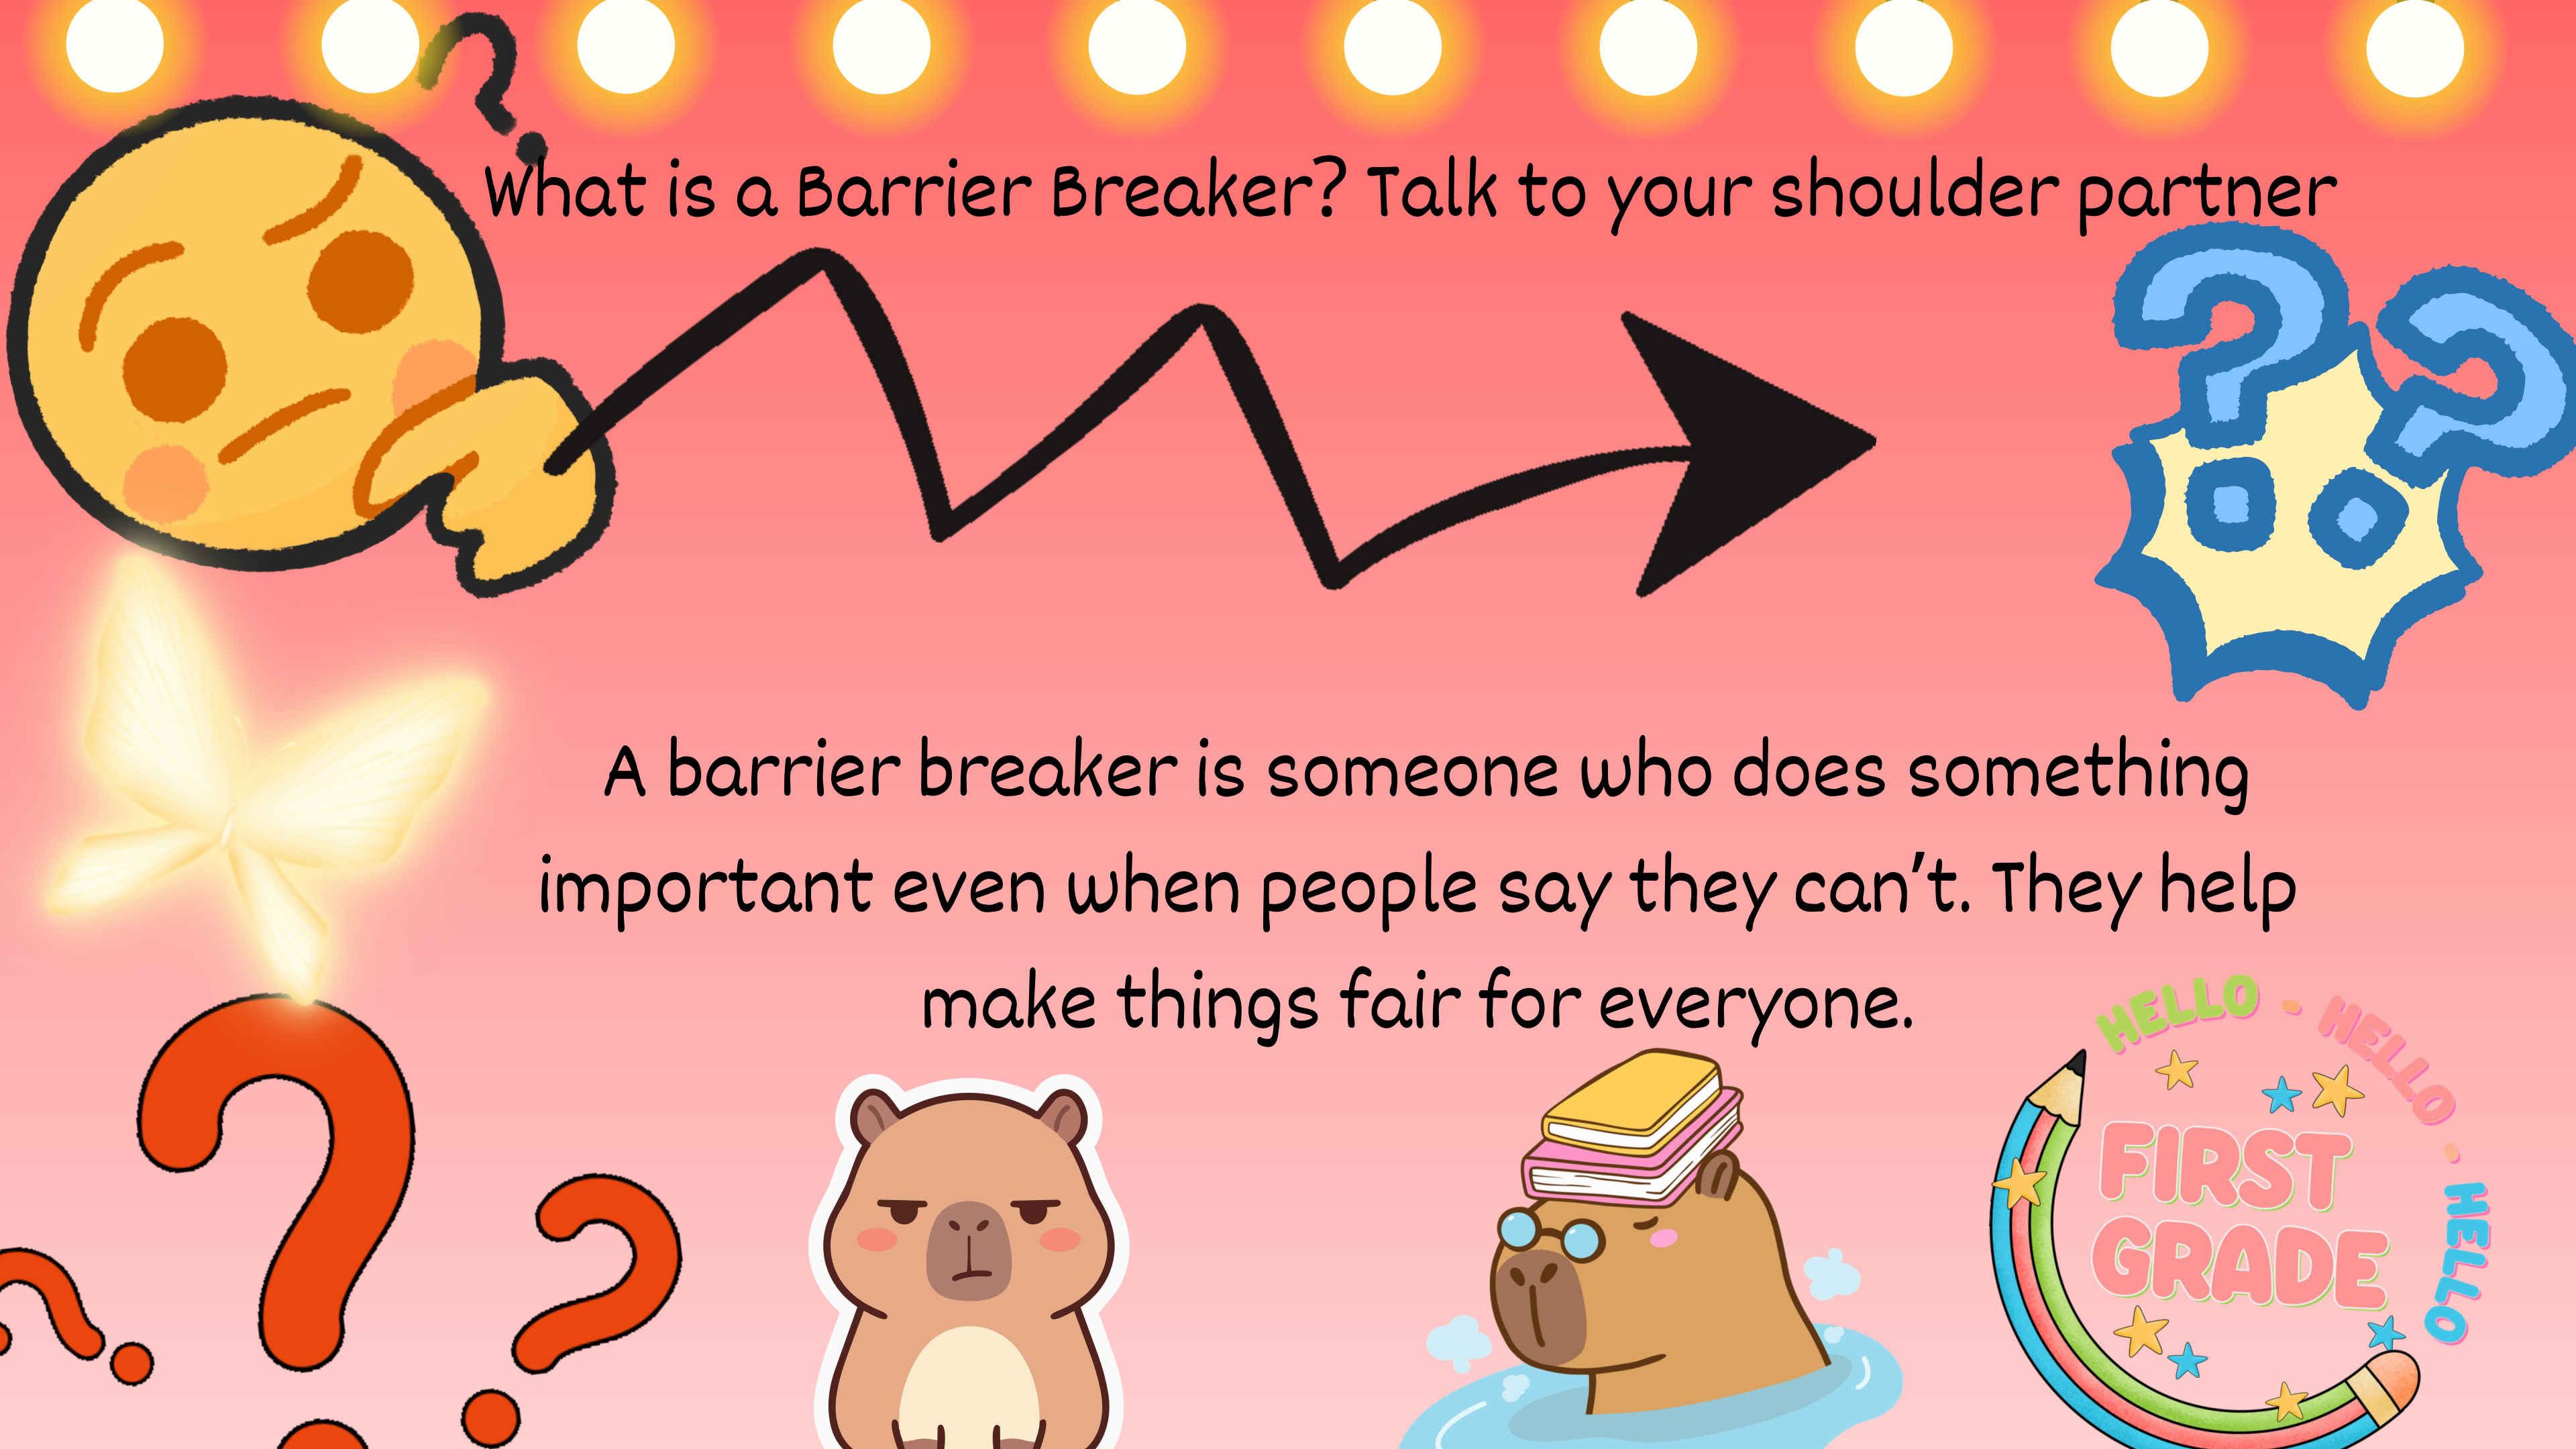

Before we start , Ariana and I (Lina) we have put something in these pages. CAPYBARAS! So try to count how many there are after

These capybaras don't count
this is what a capybara looks like:

What is a Barrier Breaker? Talk to your shoulder partner

A barrier breaker is someone who does something important even when people say they can't. They help make things fair for everyone.

Booker T. Washington

He was a teacher who helped black students go to school when many were not allowed.

He started a school called Tuskegee Institute.

He taught people skills so they could get good jobs.

👉 He broke barriers by helping more people learn and succeed.

Booker t Washington

Maggie Walker

She was the first Black woman to start and run a bank in the United States.

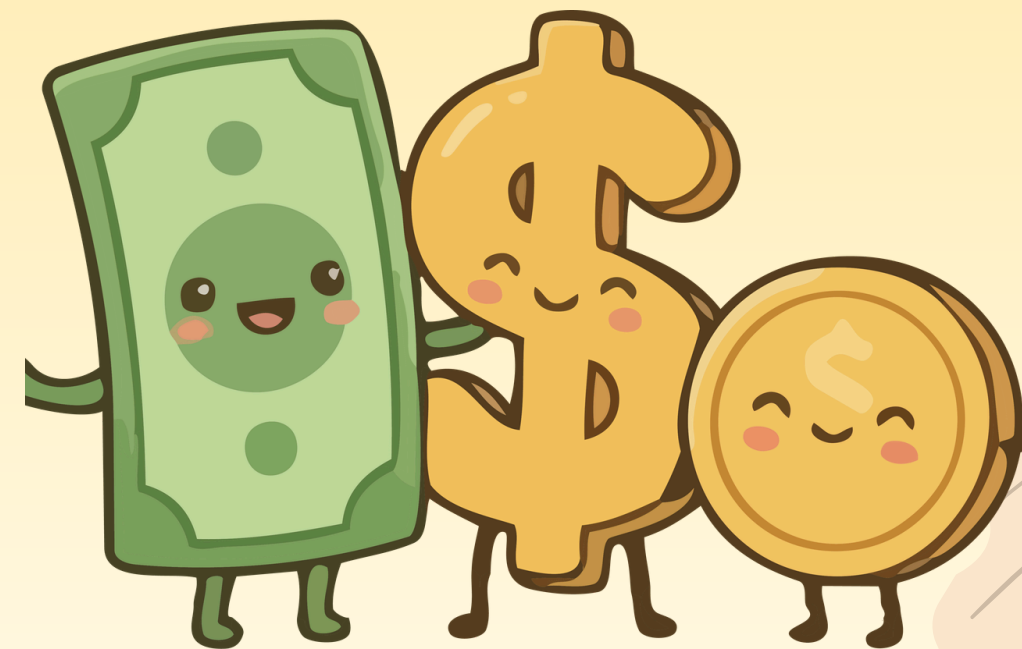

She helped people save money and start businesses.

👉 She broke barriers by showing women and Black people they could be leaders in business.

we can be a leader

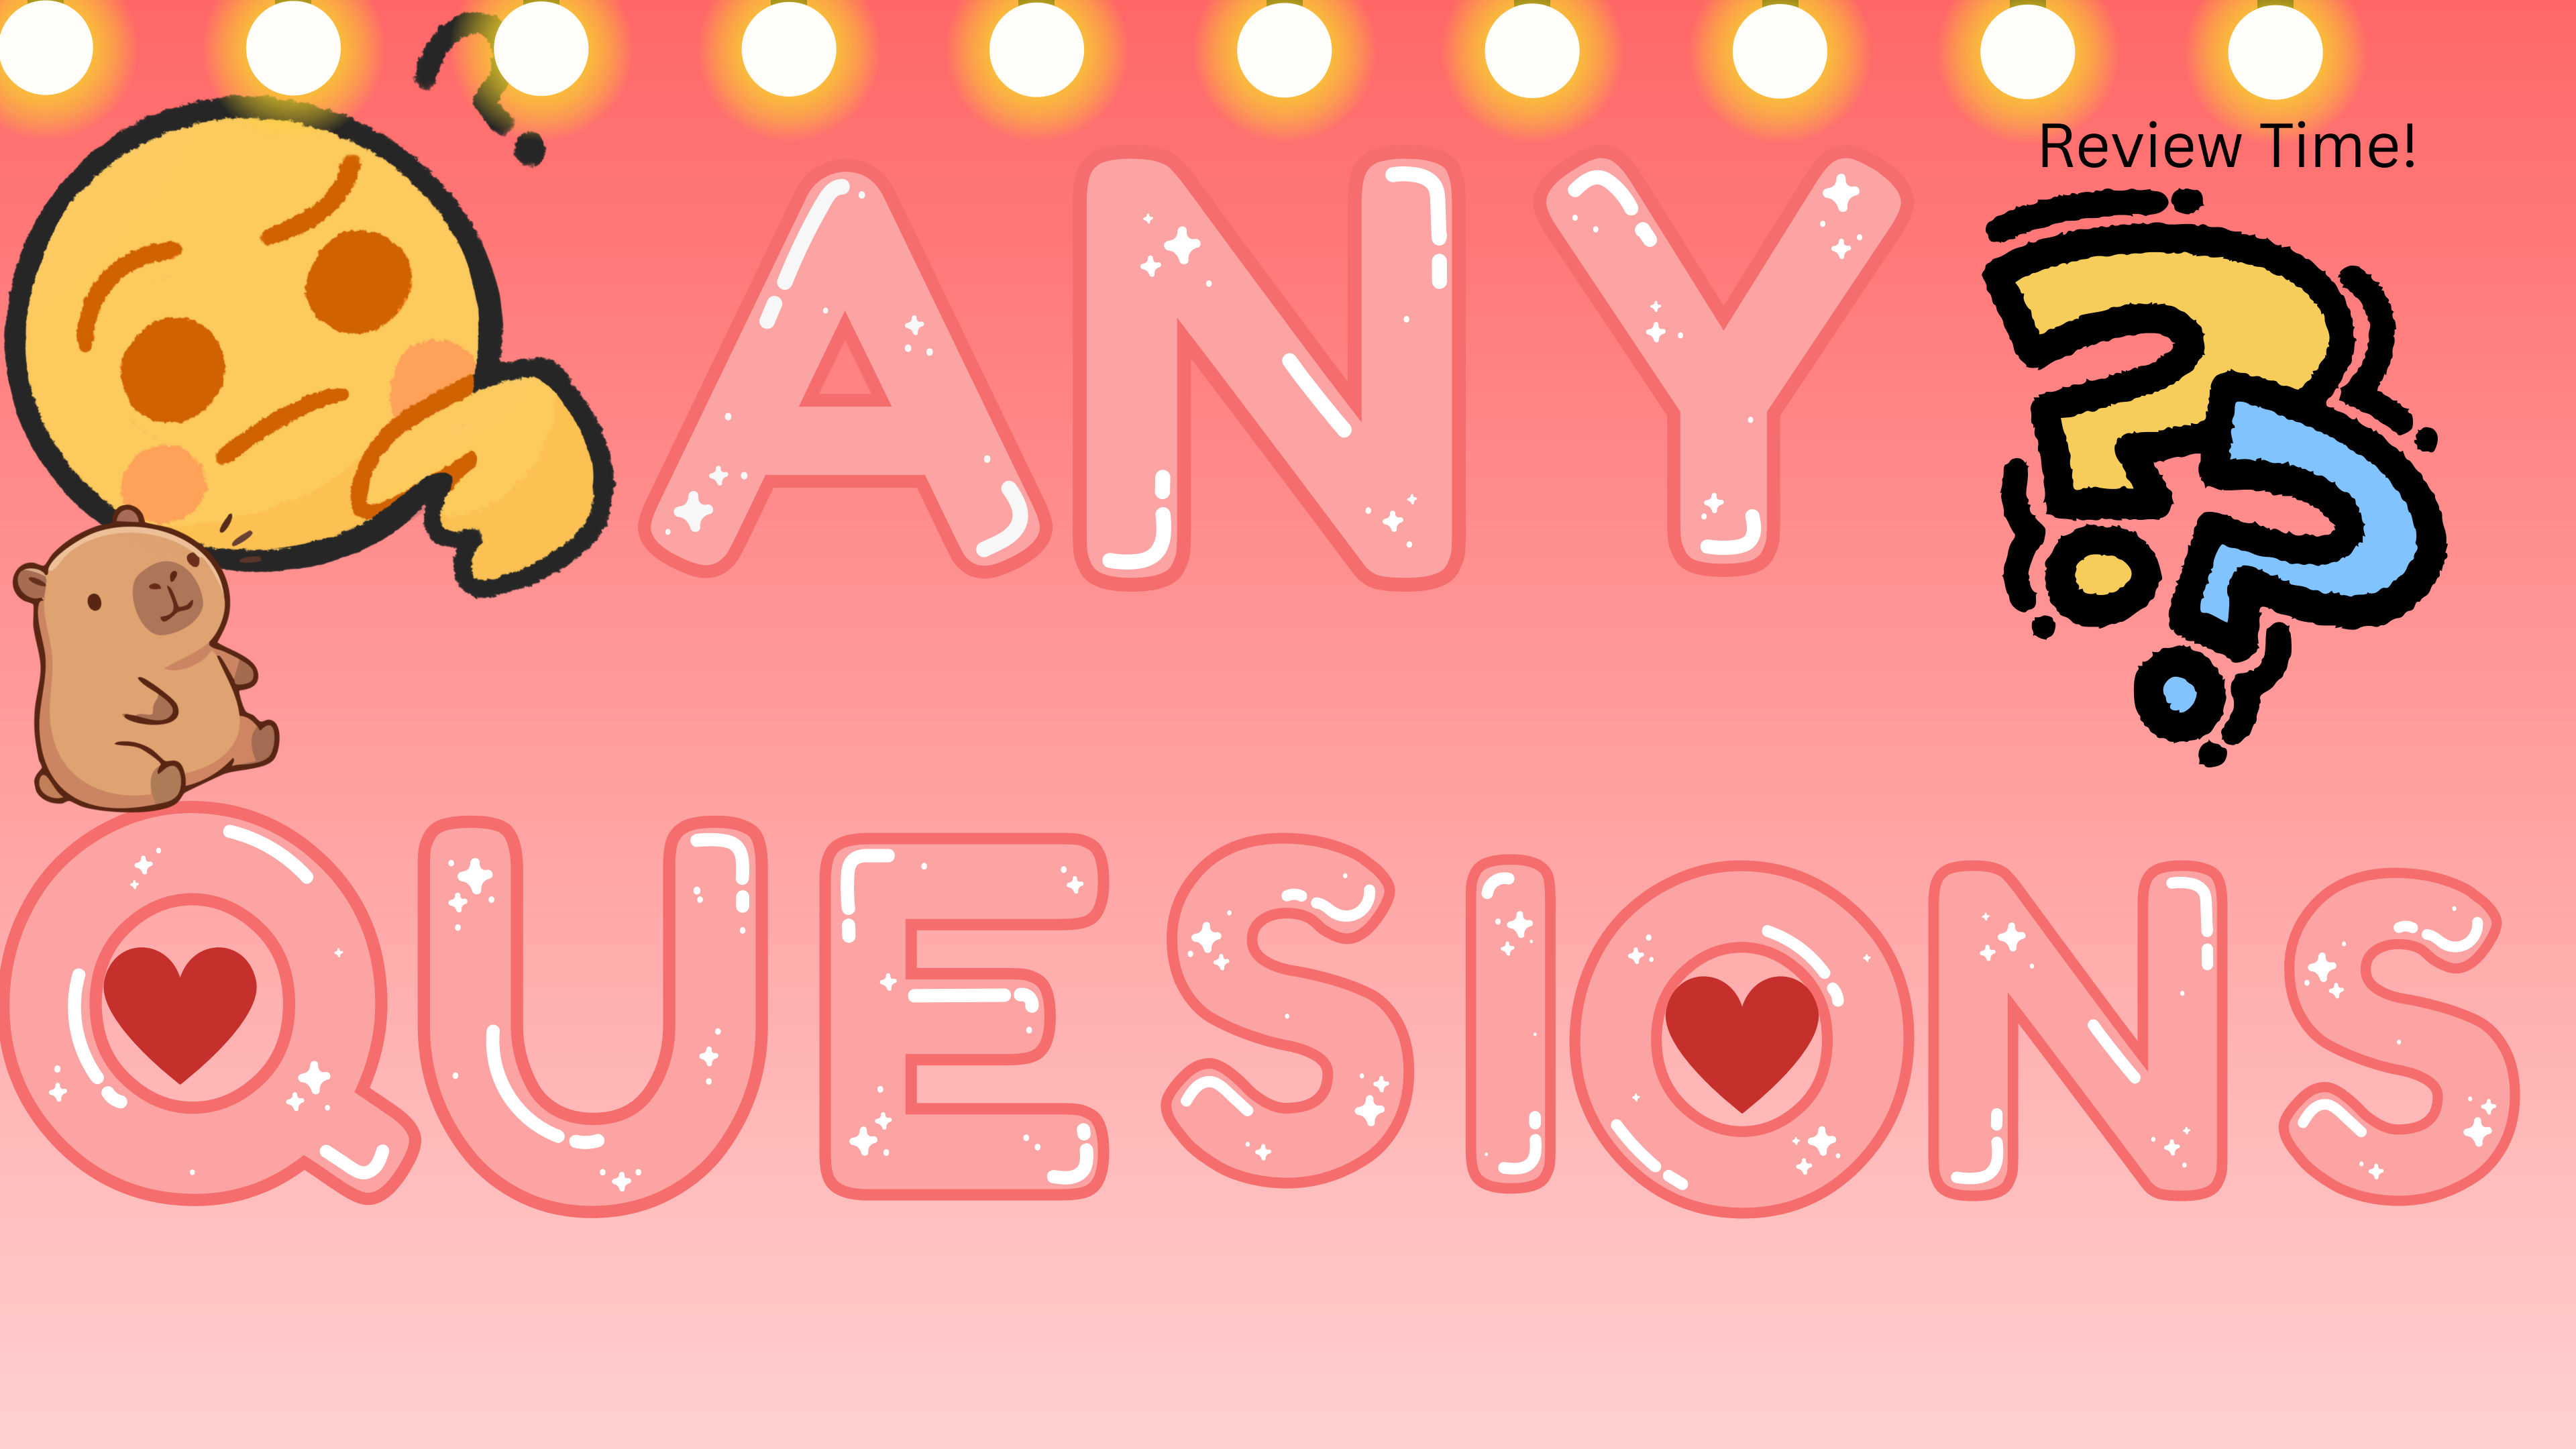

Maggie walker

Maggie L. Walker National Historic Site, National Park Service, Richmond, VA, United States

The Maggie L. Walker National Historic Site preserves the home, belongings, and legacy of pioneering civil rights...

Google Arts & Culture

ANY

Review Time!

QUESTIONS

Arthur Ashe

He was a famous tennis player.

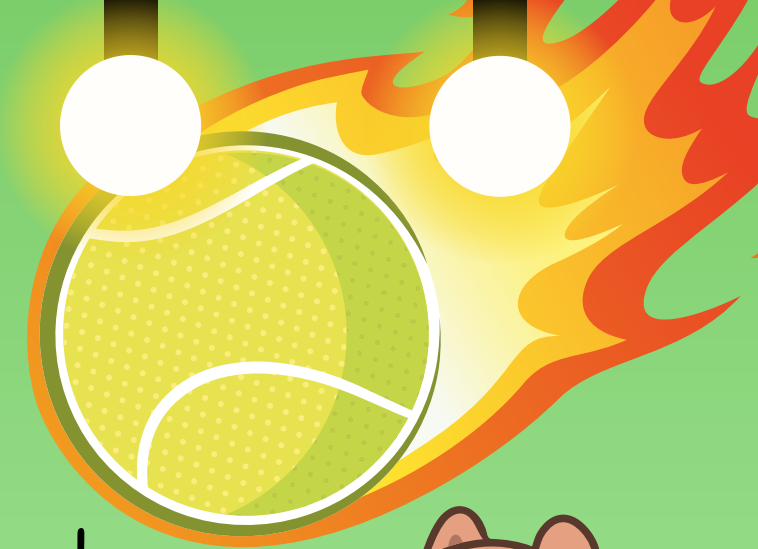

He was the first Black man to win big tennis championships like Wimbledon.

He also spoke up for fairness and kindness.

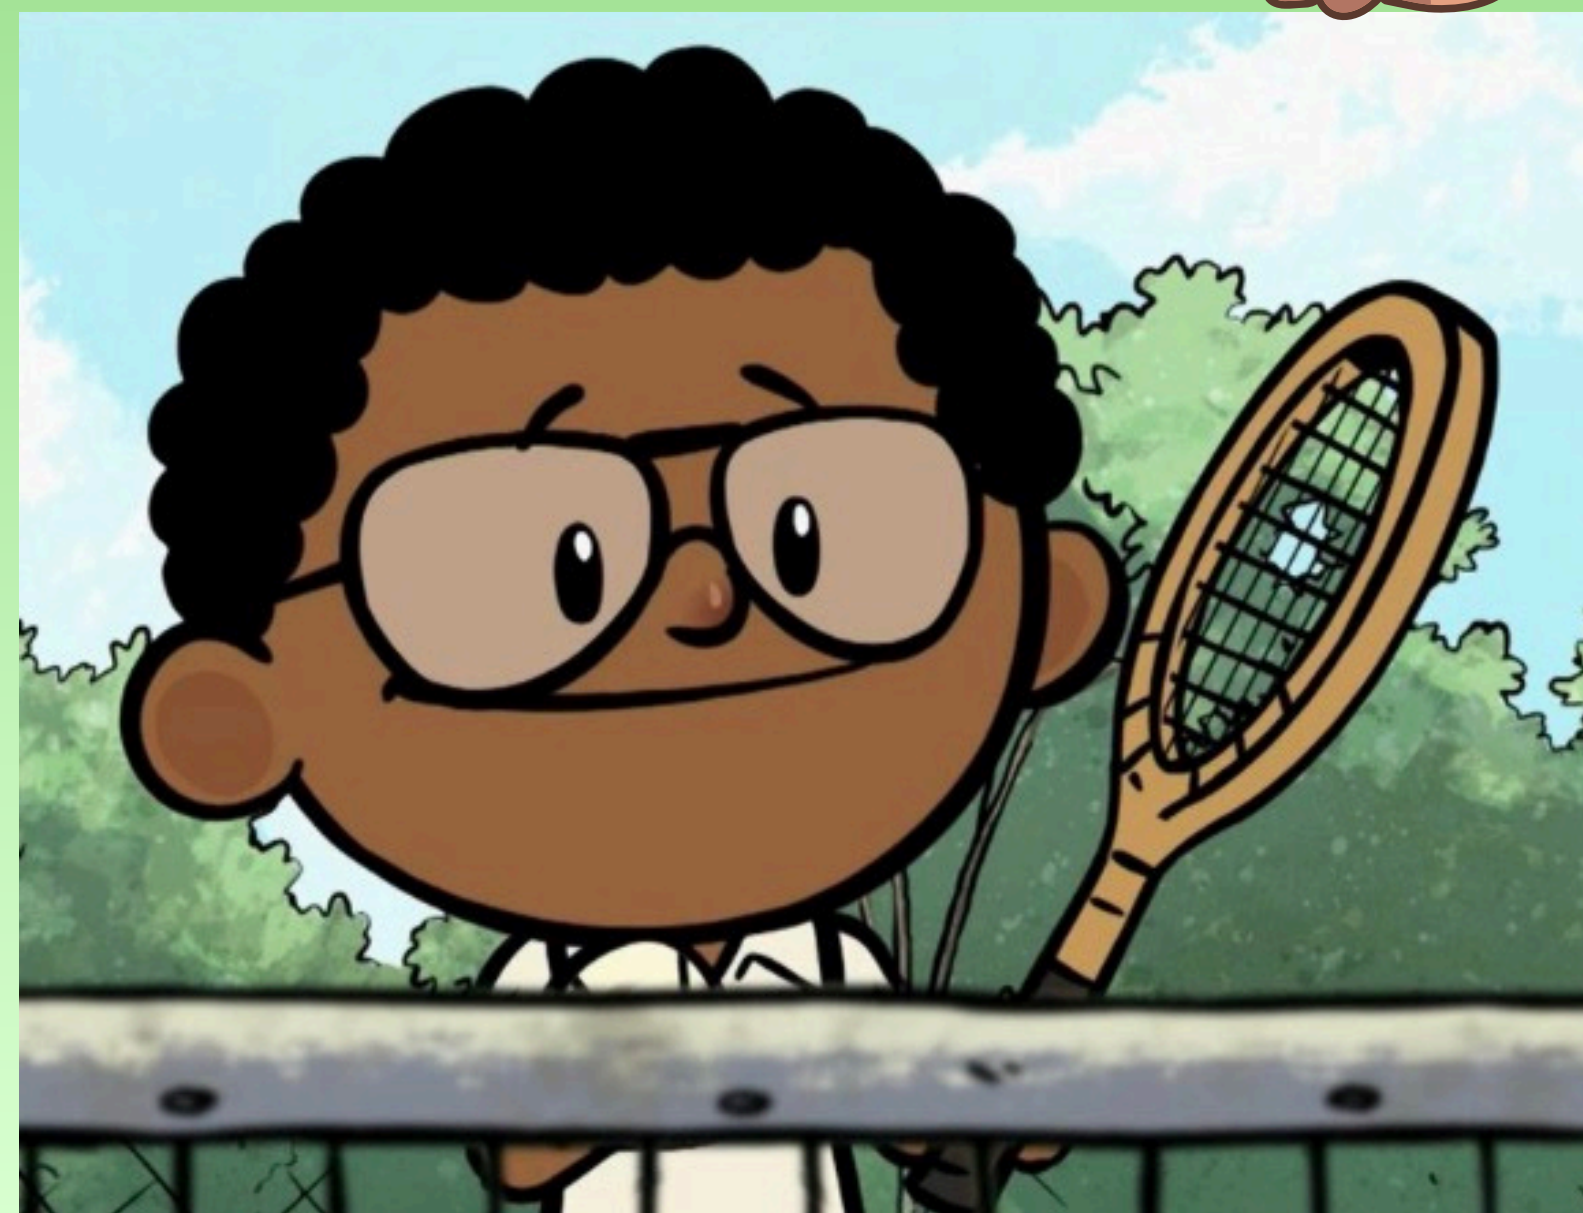

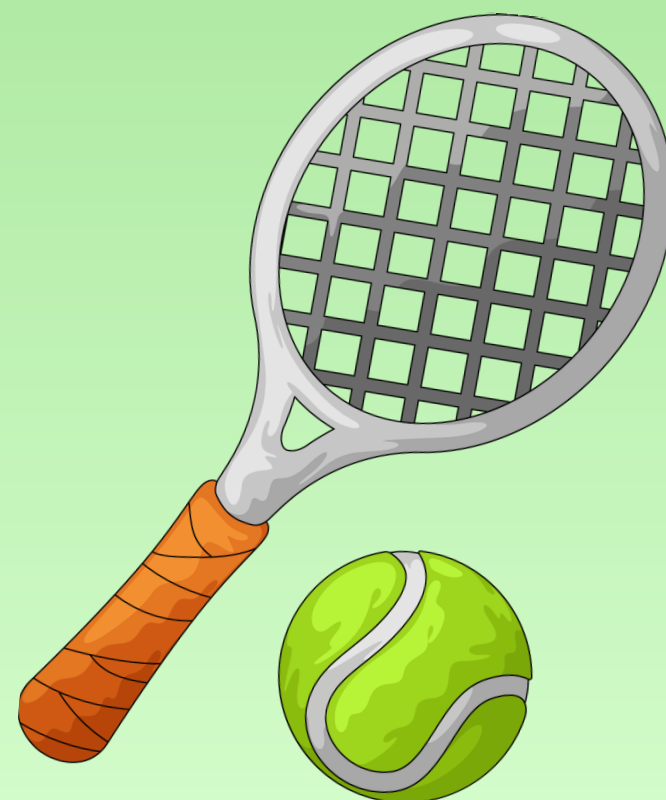

👉 He broke barriers by winning in a sport where few Black players were allowed before.

Do you play any of sports? If so what's your favorite part.

tennis

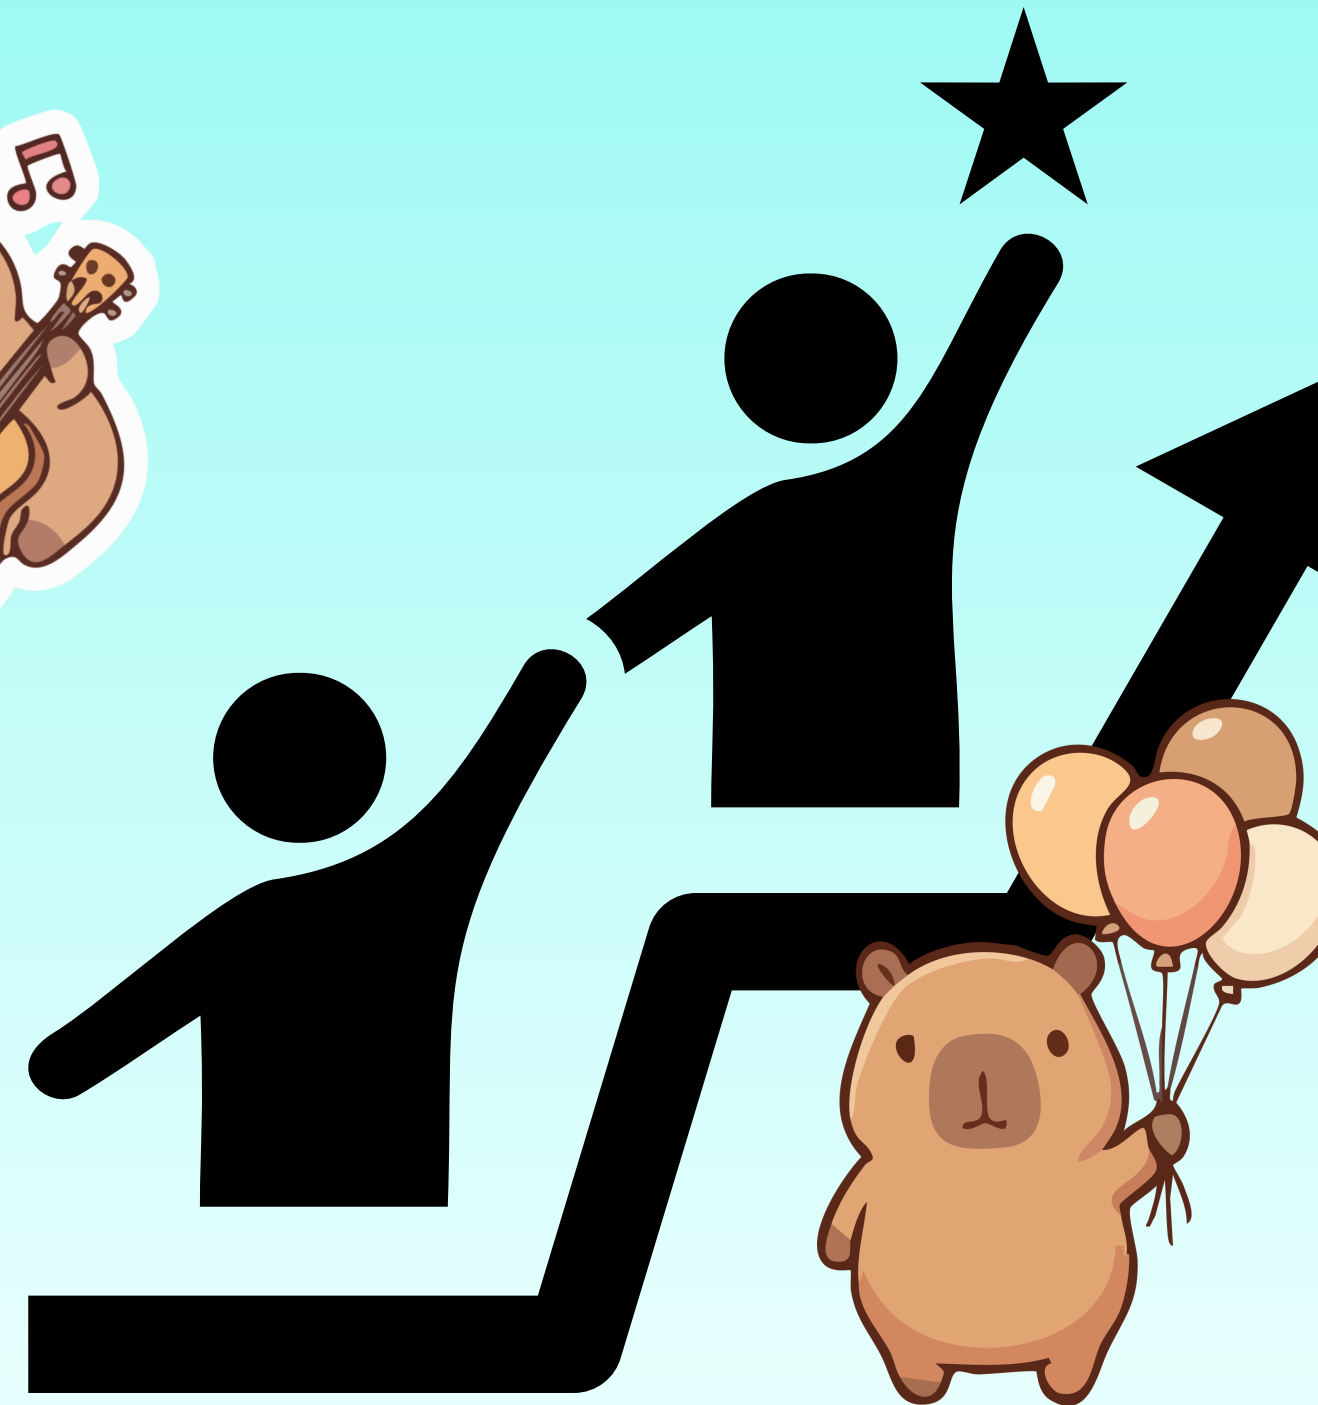

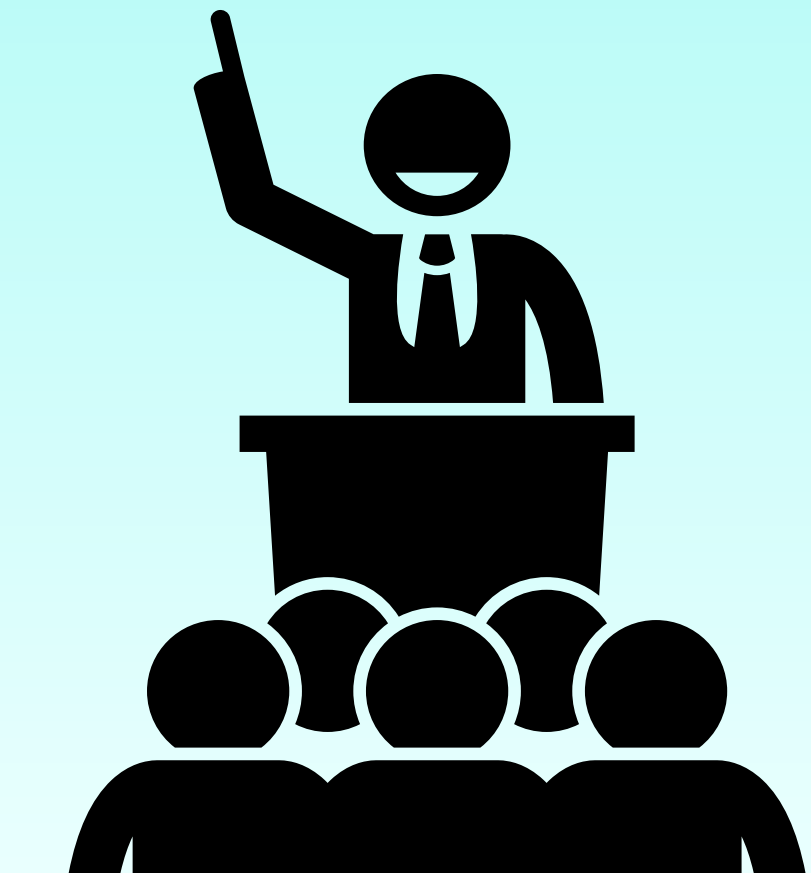

Douglas Wilder

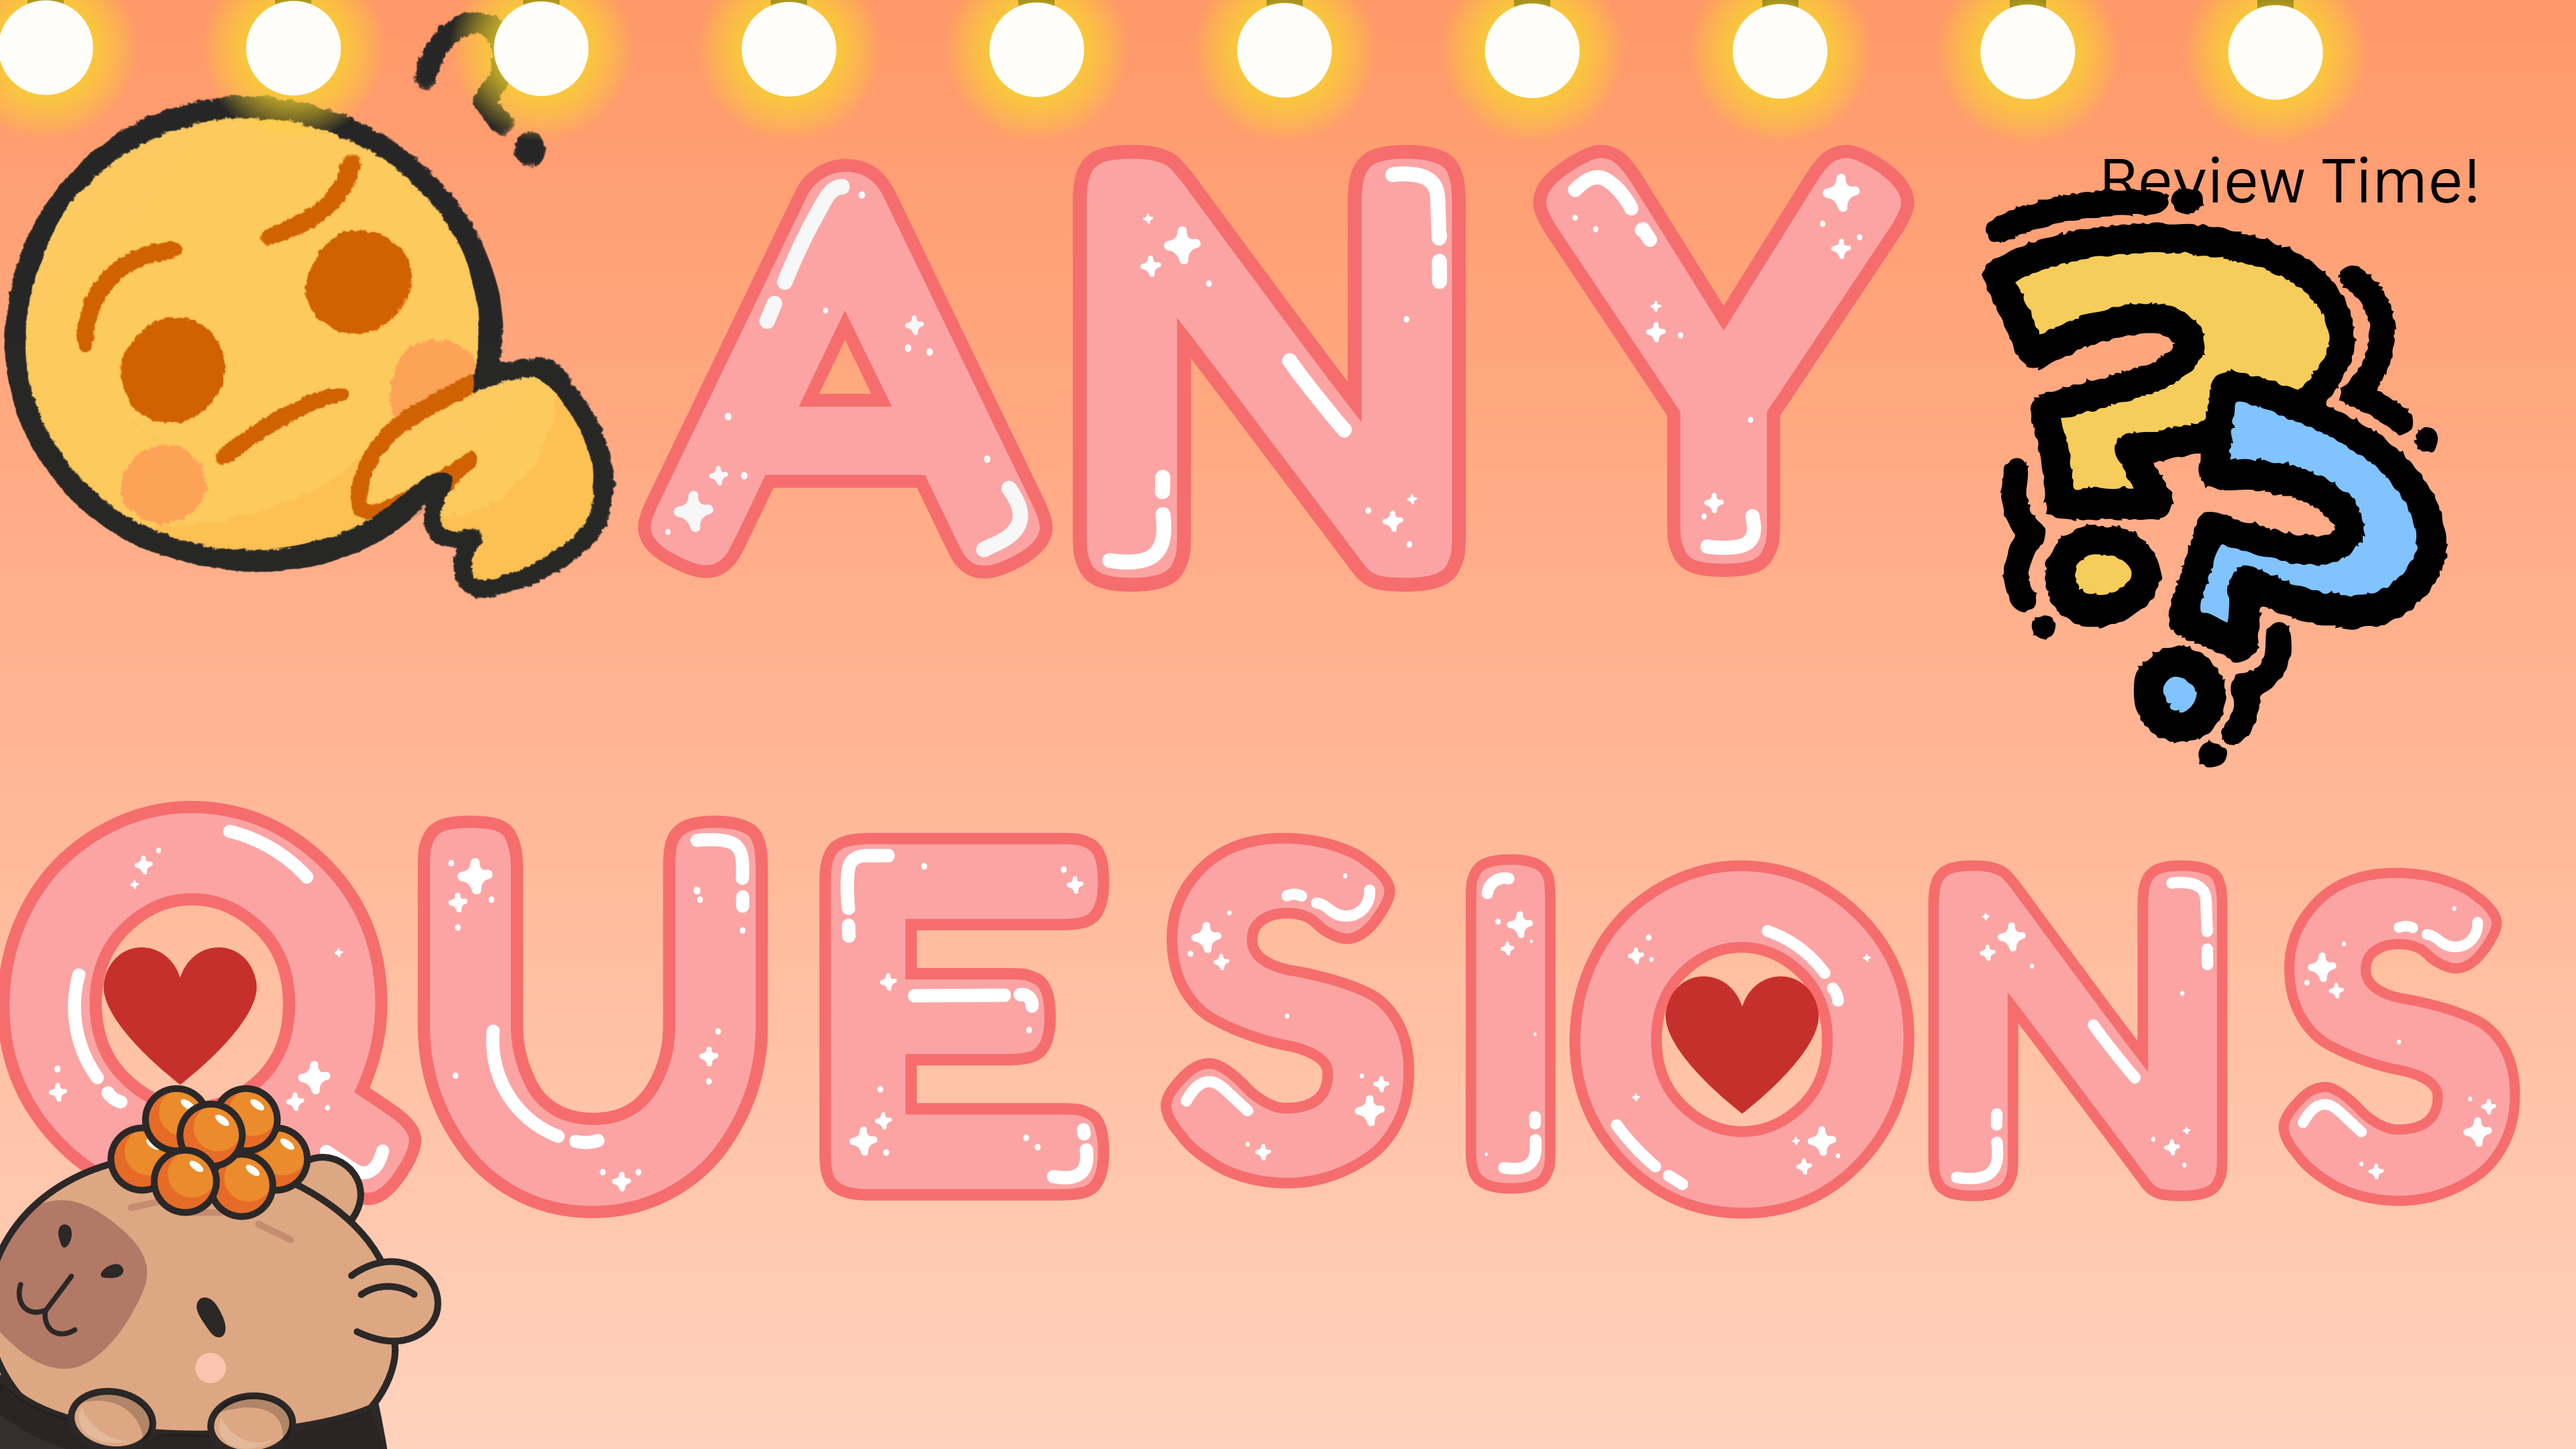

He was the first Black governor in the United States (in Virginia!).

A governor is a leader of a state.

👉 He broke barriers by becoming a leader and showing anyone can lead.

what Do you think a governor is? Talk with your shoulder partner. Then raise your hand.
(hint is in the passage.)

ANY

Review Time!

QUESSIONS

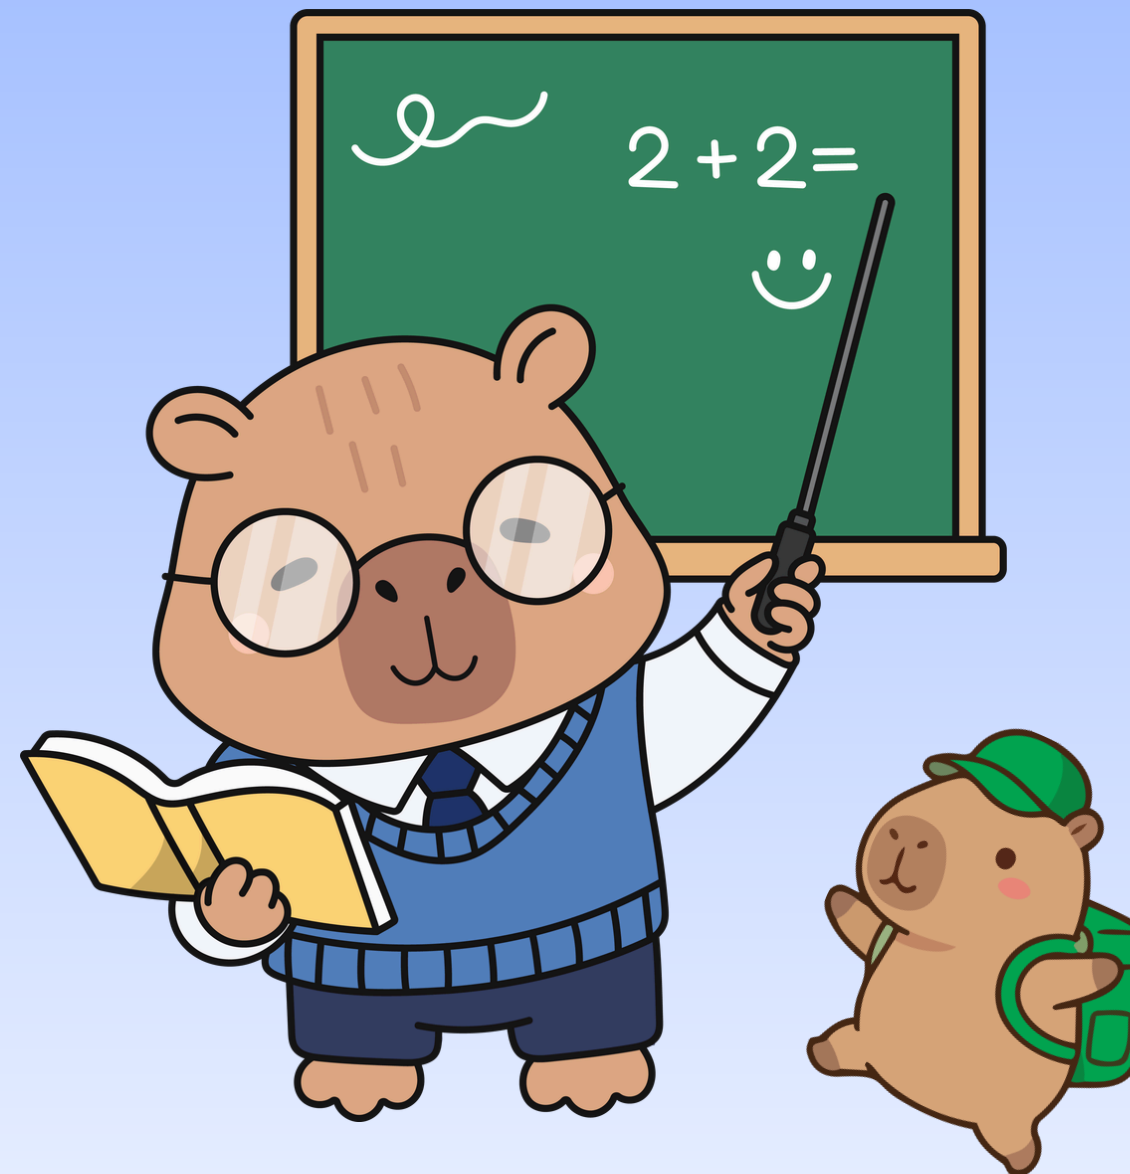

John Mercer Langston

He was the first Black man elected to Congress from Virginia.

He was also a lawyer and teacher.

👉 He broke barriers by helping make laws and standing up for people's rights.

Video 1

Video 2

Barbara Johns

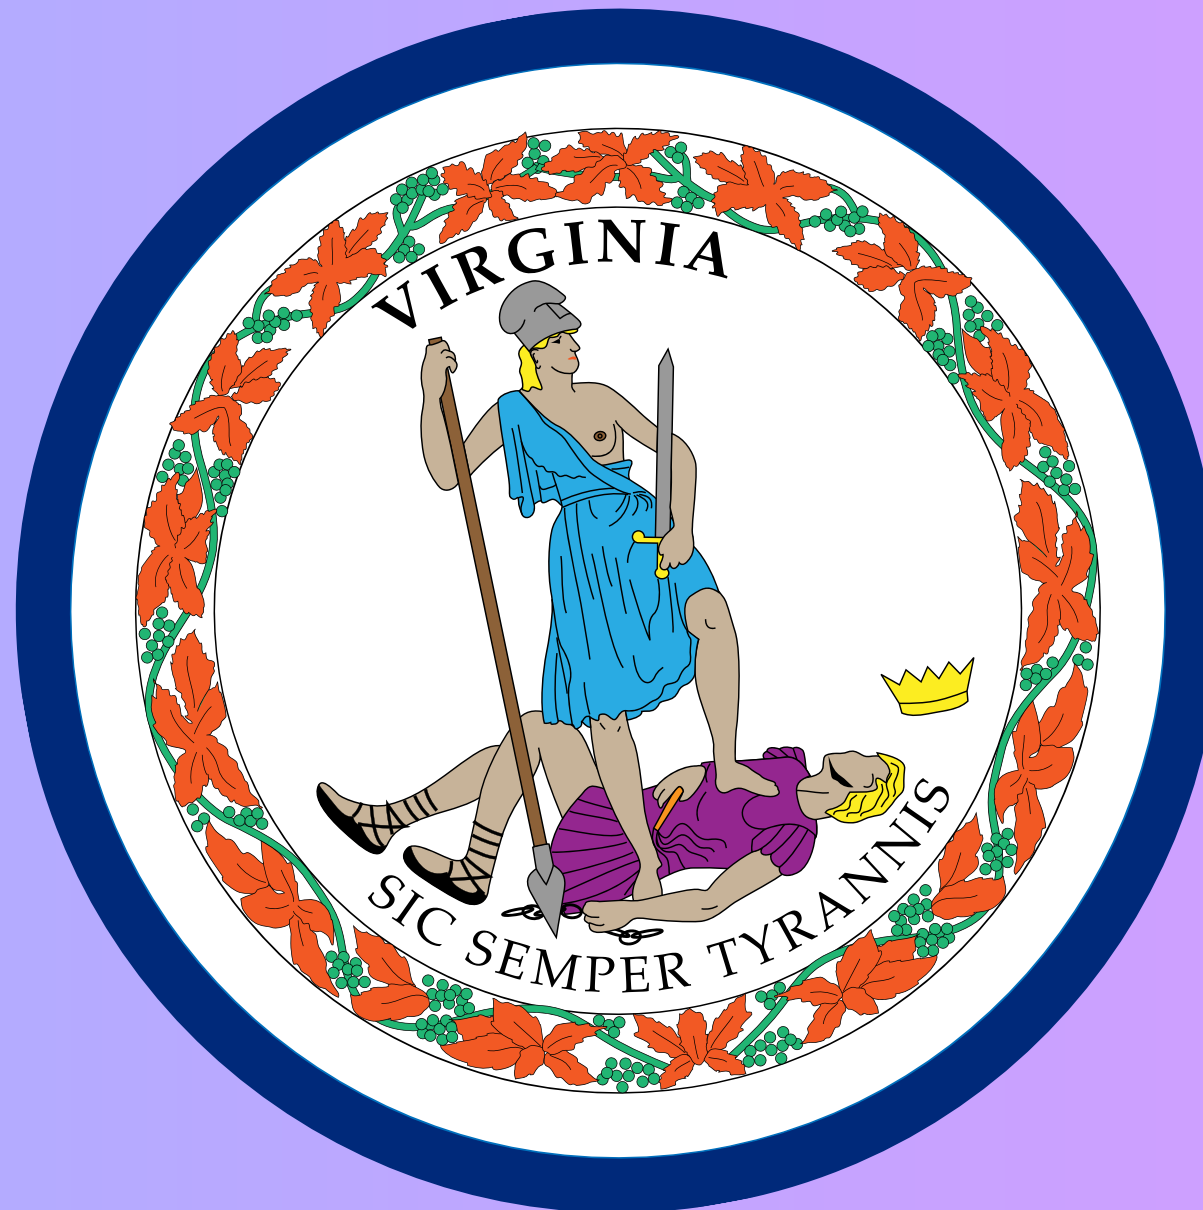

Barbara Johns was a brave student who was 16 years old when she stood up for fairness. She attended R.R. Moton High School in Farmville, Virginia, where the building was crowded and not as nice as the school for white students. In 1951, Barbara planned and led a student walkout, asking her classmates to leave school to protest these unfair conditions. She also worked with lawyers to bring a case to court, which later became part of an important decision that helped end segregation in public schools. Because of her actions, Barbara Johns is remembered as a leader who helped make schools better for all children.

Barbra John

"All of these people were brave. They worked hard and didn't give up.
Because of them, more people today can go to school, have jobs, play sports, and be leaders."

BRAVE

ANY?

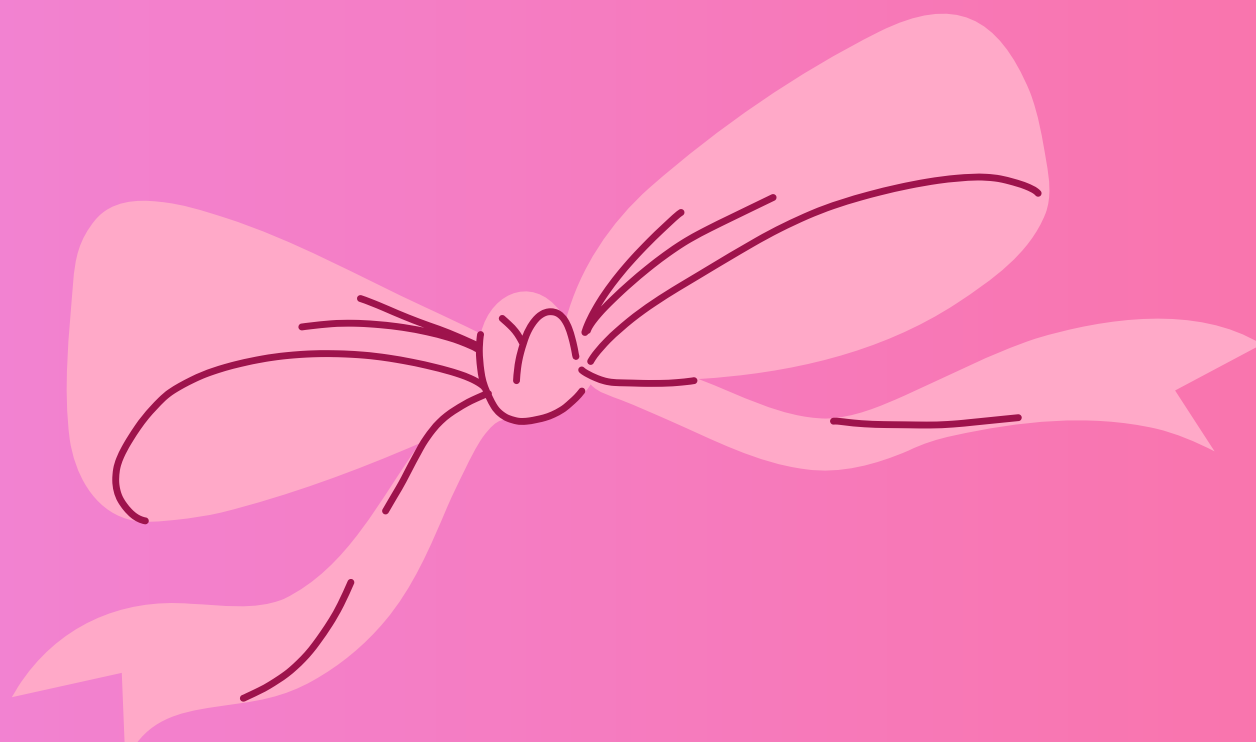

QUESSIONS

THANK YOU

END

THE

Ariana and I (Lina) were happy to share this info with you!

AWE SOME!

HAPPY

AMAZING

