

How Issac Newton

Somewhat Ruined My Week

In the court room you see Issac Newton and Ariana Lee arguing about the fall...

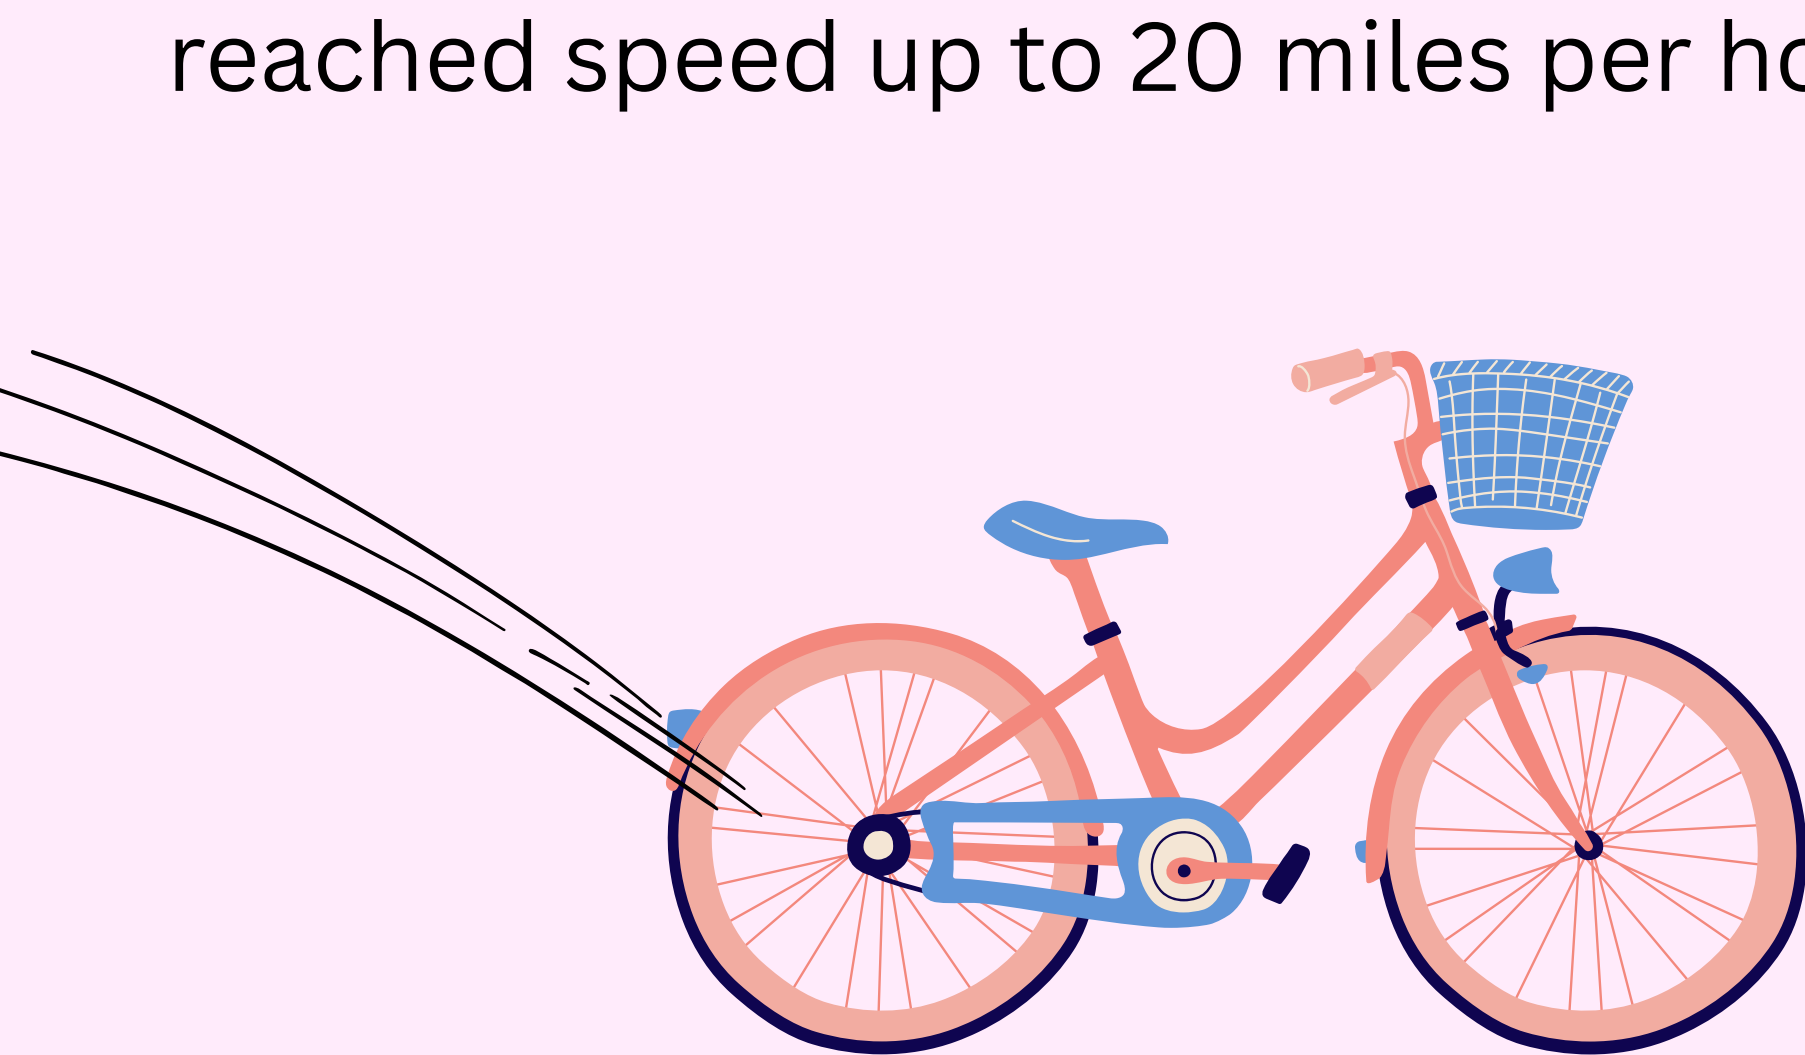

“Order to the court room,” the judge said.

“I have nothing to do with this!” Complained Newton.

“Let’s hear from the plaintiff first, so Ariana what happened the day of the fall?”

Replied the judge.

“Well, I was on a nice bike ride and I was going on smooth flat ground but out of nowhere the wind picks up and I start racing down the flat path! By 30 seconds I reached speed up to 20 miles per hours!

MPH

So, It's been 2 minutes and I couldn't stop so I had to keep riding but as soon as I came up on a really big hill I went shooting down! It all happened so fast that I broke my arm and leg. It is all because of the 2nd law of physics he made" " Sir Issac, would you like to say anything ?" The judge added "Yes I would like to add on to what she is saying. Just because I made the 2nd law, that doesn't mean I made her fall. I am not guilty, and I refuse to be named guilty." Replied Issac Newton

“ Well...” The judge replied “ You did make the laws so.. I pronounce you guilty.” The judge slammed his hammer while saying, “ Order to the court, order to the court room!”
So in the end Ariana walked out with 20,000 dollars.
